

TEAM QUALITY SURVEY - THE TOOL THAT QUICKLY INCREASES YOUR TEAM'S EFFICIENCY

Virtually all businesses and teams exist with the purpose of creating results. And we obtain long-term sustainable results by studying three results aspects:

- Profitability or efficiency that can be measured in money
- Well-being for those involved
- Correct quality of delivery

In the short term, you can prioritize one of the aspects. However, never in a longer perspective. In order for the team or business to be able to create the conditions for good and long-term results, the members need to be able to work effectively together.

The fastest way to efficiency is to use the Team Quality Survey (TQS) - an easy to use and extremely effective tool.

THE BASIS FOR TQS

TQS is based on well-proven theories of group development. These claim that teams work better together, work more efficiently, feel better and deliver higher quality if they agree to:

"IT WAS AN A-HA EXPERIENCE THAT WAS A BOOST FOR MANY PEOPLE, AND IT HAS BUILT CONFIDENCE AND GIVEN US A GREATER UNDERSTANDING OF EACH OTHER."

Manager in a construction company

Photo by: Matt Artz Unsplash

- Decide on engaging goals
- Use smart structures
- Have an open interaction
- Constantly develop
- Have a high level of commitment

They also have to take personal responsibility for the fact that the above really happens.

THE FOCUS OF TQS

TQS focuses on mapping the factors that the team and its members can influence themselves. And that affects the team's performance based on efficiency, quality, and well-being. The survey shows the team's strengths, key development areas and how much responsibility it takes for their key issues.

HOW THE MAPPING IS DONE

During a day led by an experienced Move consultant, you will get knowledge of your team and its strengths and weaknesses. You also get inspiration, support, and guidance; together you look at what the team needs to do and which structures are needed to achieve even better results. The end product is an action plan that leads you step by step towards the goal - and the Move consultant follows your team's progress on a distance via Move's digital support tool Teambook (www.teambook.se). Move has performed TQS with almost a thousand teams and over 80% show great progress after a day with a Move consultant and four months remote support via Teambook.

ABOUT MOVE

Move is the people-centered and value-driven consultancy company that make individuals, team, businesses, and organizations better by moving them to their desired state. We base everything we do in the belief that in every human being there are abilities, talents, and qualities that can spur the individual to make a real difference.

MORE INFORMATION

Contact Fredrik Björklund, experienced consultant at Move Management, and he will tell you more.

+46 733 61 97 22 fredrik@move.se